

Long Beach Water Department
The Standard in Water Conservation &
Environmental Stewardship

RECLAMATION
Managing Water in the West

Welcome to

eWatering Update

eWatering Update is an easy, nearly effortless way for people like you to save huge amounts of water, protect the environment, and lower your water bill. Using sophisticated weather stations here in Long Beach and leveraging the power of the internet, we send periodic easy-to-use irrigation recommendations to you at virtually no cost.

To subscribe or unsubscribe...Click here

To learn about eWatering Update ...Click here

- Frequently asked questions
- Get started using eWatering Update
- Helpful hints, including
 - Understanding your irrigation controller
 - Minimizing runoff
 - Understanding the eWatering Update chart
- Frequently asked questions

To go back to the conservation homepage...Click here

eWatering Update is a water conservation project of the Long Beach Water Department, made possible through a generous contribution from the Bureau of Reclamation, a federal agency that manages water and related resources throughout the West.*